REACH, RoHS Conformity

Dear Sir or Madam,

Our company, ZARGES GmbH, is producer of products made from light alloy (ladders, scaffoldings, logistic equipment and special fabrications) as well as distributor of trading goods.

We are neither producer of chemical agents nor are we preparing chemical compounds. Based on that, ZARGES is a "downstream user" according to the above-mentioned REACH regulation and therefore no mandatory registration according to REACH is needed for our company.

On our own behalf and to be able to guarantee our high product safety we observe the realisation of REACH very intensively.

In case of SVHC agents we have contacted our key suppliers, supplying product related material, in order to fulfil our obligation to give the requested information as a „downstream user“. At the moment, we investigate about the list of candidates of SVHC agents see art. 59, of regulation (EC) no. 1907/2006, new dated January 17, 2023— please see <https://echa.europa.eu/candidate-list-table>

The results are recorded with the help of a register, but only if the limit of 0.1% of each component product is exceeded. Since REACH is an ongoing, complementary process and our suppliers are also integrated into a supply chain, it must be taken into account that the information process will take some time.

According to our current knowledge, all our products are REACH compliant, this also applies to the requested product 40918.

None of our products had to be reported to the Scip database.

Of course, our customers will be informed if new information arises in the course of supplier inquiries that affects the limit value of 0.1% per component product.

Please understand that no single certificates or confirmations can be given due to the huge amount of the diversity of our products.

Subject to the regulations of 2011/65/EU we are a distributor, and we also request from our suppliers that every article is according to the regulations of 2011/65/EU.

To our knowledge and inquiries, no electrical appliances or electronic devices which do not correspond to the regulations in 2011/65/EU or Directive 2015/863 Annex II (RoHS III), are delivered by our suppliers.

Best regards
ZARGES GmbH
